Little Motive Power on the Market Yesterday and Traders' Profit on Short Side.

S. BONDS UNCHANGED

Grain Market Had Quiet Day and Threw Little Light on the Crop Outlook.

(By Associated Press.)

REW YORK, May 25.—Yesterday's closing out of contracts by the disgusted traders who had come into the stock market under the influence of Saturday's bank statement left little motive power in the market. The reaction invited some basis suling in the effort to extend the bank statement icit little motive power in the market. The reaction invited some short selling in the effort to extend the short selling in the effort to extend the downward movement so as to yield a trader's profit on the short side, but this was timidly pursued, and with the subsequent steadying of the market the trading became virtually stagmant. Efforts to trade seemed to be abandoned in despair of achieving any movement of prices. Selling for London accounts had some influence in the early session, although it was of a very light volume. Drop of over a point in New York and Hartford was the only concrete effect of the strike of freight handlers. The contracting tendency of general business is no surprise to wall Street, for it is evident that the long liquidation of last year was in expectation of just such a development. The incidents of the day were few and were of little influence. The outgo of $2.50,000 of gold to-morrow is practically officed by additional receipts of Japan gold. The grain markets had a quiet day and threw little light on the question of the crop outlook. The marking down of the market quotation for copper had no effect on Amalgamated Copper. Advances in refined sugars were equally without market Raliway made an equal or greater decline. Last prices were insignificantly altered from those of last night.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $1,275,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. unchanged on call.

Total sales of stocks for the day were 212,700 shares.

COTTON MARKETS.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 4 points, but almost immediately we contaged they greatly a contaged they greatly as to head present equations to the English spot market, which was quiet at a decline of 2 points, and in the absence of buil support. Sentiment around the ring seemed to have a bearish average, but the market was evidently very nervous and each few points down the covering of scalping horts would cause a slight reaction, giving it a very irregular and unsettled look. In a general way the tendency was downward, and particularly when it was seen that the forecast called for rains in the Eastern bell, where the dry weather has furnished almost the only recent cause for apprehension, and around mil-day July was down to 12 %, which was a summer to the contage of the

DETECTIVES LOOK FOR MISSING BOY

An Asheville special says: Mars E. Wogar, Jr., a member of a prominent Cleveland, Ohio, family, has disappeared rom the Asheville school and his where from the Asheville school and his whereabouts are unknown to his father and the faculty of the school.

There was no apparent cause for his disappearance other than he would have been disciplined for violating one of the school's rules. Detectives are trying to find him. It is believed that he is in New York.

A special from Cleveland to the New York Herald says: Friends here of Mars E. Wogar, who disappeared from the school at Asheville, N. C., can assign no cause for his action. The young man's father, who is wealthy, went East several days ago in search of his son. The story is to the effect that young Wogar, who has artistic inclinations, did not fancy the course of study he was pursuing at Asheville. Members of the family say, however, that he was a hard student, and was doing well in his studies. They think his mind must have been affected by overwork. A special from Cleveland to the New

The Theatres.

The Bennett-Moulton Company appeared for the last time last hight in "Annie laurie," To-night the same company opens in "The Belle of Virginia," and will continue the bill for the remainder of the week, with Saturday matinee.

The Belle of Virginia," is a striking play. Raleigh Hamilton (Charles McGrath) graduated at West Point at the outbreak of the Civil war. John Hamilton (Waiter Woods), his brother, remained at the Hamilton home in the south Raleigh espoused the Federal, John the Confederate cause. Miss Angela Pierrepont (Miss Leigh DeLacy), "The Belle of Virginia," is loved by the brothers. She marries John, the Confederate. Being separated from him by the fortunes of war and believing him to be dead, she finally marries Raleigh. A child is born. Afterward John returns and finds his wife the wife of his brother Raleigh. At the Bijou.

The change made in the bill at the Bijou Theatre this week would not be recognized as the same which opened Monday night. By adhering strictly to vaudeville, the players have more than recovered themselves. The attraction is Imir, and the audiences are beginning to appreciate the work of the players. The usual matines will be given this aftermoon.

Brixton Burglary-David Garrick Brixton Burglary—David Garrick Patrons of the Bljou, and especially those who have seen the Walter Edwards Company in the two plays which have been put on by that organization, will welcome the announcement that the company is to return Monday and will play the "Brixton Burglarly" for five performances (beginning with matinee Monday), and beginning Thursday matinee will present "David Garrick." Mr. Edwards assures the public that the plays are of a high order and as attractive as any he has presented. Seats go on sale to-day.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION.

Bravery of Engineer and Assist-

Bravery of Engineer and Assistant Saved a Worse Catastrophe.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CHARLOTTESVILLE. VA. May 25.—
The explosion of a gasoline engine which furnishes power to the electric light plant and pumping station at the residence of wealthy Edwin O. Meyers, of Richmond, Va., at his summer home, near the University of Virginia, late yesterday aftermoon, destroyed the entire plant, togather with three outbuildings, and seriously threatened the dwellins.

The bravery of H. C. Winebaum, the engineer, and Nelson Diggs, a negro blacksmith, prevented the entire hilliop on which the buildings are situated from being blown off. These men, when the explosion occurred, jumped down into the station plt and cut and plugged the pine which ran from the power house to the gasoline roservoir, containing over thirty burrels of the fluid.

This prevented flames from reaching the supply tank. The loss is about $10,000.

A TEN TON DOOR. That Weight Gives an Idea of the Ponderous Bank Vault, the Ponderous Bank Vault.

The American National Bank officials expect to move the banking house into its new quarters at Tenth and Main Streets as soon as the new furniture arrives and the building is entirely ready for occupancy. The move will probably not be made until about August ist, however, but offices in the tail building will be occupied before that time.

The bank has just put in a tenton steel door for the vault in the new banking house. As soon as the vault is completed the officials of the bank will have a public test made of the hardness of the steel in the vault. It is guaranteed to be c'rill proof, but to make sire of this mechanics with the best appliances will attempt to make an impression on it.

Three Casualties.

Several small cases were attended to yesterday by Dr. Crump, of the City Ambulance service. Charles Long, of No. 1765 Fast Broad Street, had his finger cut off; Walter Chepin had his left leg cut, and Hezekish Jones had a finger injured.
